THREE DAYS AFTER THE CONGRESS HAVE BEEN SCHEDULED FOR THESE VISITS.

IT WOULD BE GREAT TO HAVE MORE AVAILABLE DAYS AFTER THE CONGRESS TO ENJOY OF THESE VISITS!

Villa de Leyva

The municipality of Villa de Leyva is located in the department of Boyacá in the oriental Colombian mountain chain at 2.149 meters above the sea level. October is the rainiest month and the first months of the year are the driest.

Visitors are enchanted with every corner in Villa de Leyva. It is enough to walk along its streets of stone in any direction to see churches, convents, monasteries and, suddenly, to find an enormous square where people fly kites and Christmas lights are lightened. Here, visitors are astonished with the houses with white fronts, large windows and doors of wood built in colonial style.

There are many shops that sell great variety of products from crafts to jewellery of great quality. The gastronomic offer is incredible and broad for all tastes and to please the most demanding palates.

Nearby Villa de Leyva are the Desert of the Candelaria and the monastery. To the North, visitors can find the beautiful Iguaque's Sanctuary.

Ráquira

One of many enchanting places that we can visit in Colombia is Ráquira, a colourful artisan town, located close to Villa de Leyva. Unlike the colonial style of Villa de Leyva, Ráquira is characterised by the terracotta colour of the houses and shops.

This tiny and picturesque town is considered to be the capital of the crafts in Colombia as clay pots were made even before the Spanish conquest. As a matter of fact, the name of the town in Muisca language means city of pots. The visit focuses on the main street and the square, so it is possible to dedicate the time to buy crafts or to go for a walk through its streets, which can be done in less than an hour.

Iguaque Fauna and Flora Sanctuary

Iguaque Fauna and Flora Sanctuary is located in the department of Boyacá, between the municipalities of Villa de Leyva, Arcabuco, Chíquiza, and Sáchica. Iguaque's park is a small area of forest and paramo in the oriental Colombian mountain chain. It extends over 6,750 hectares with mountains between 2,400 and 3,800 metres above sea level.

This location is an ideal place to rest the soul and, therefore, it has transformed into a place of spiritual retreat for many people. In the Iguaque Sanctuary, visitors can admire the Sacred Lagoon of Iguaque that, according to Muisca mythology, is the cradle of humanity. For the Muiscas, it was a symbol of the culture of water and, nowadays, this thought is still present, as it is said that going to this lagoon cleanses the soul and purifies the spirit.

The sanctuary is very rich in flora and fauna, and animals such as horses, squirrels, some species of deer, and a great variety of birds can be found.
